Farmers should read the Article on "Poison Crops" on middle page

Sunday morning dawned clear and bright, although clouds rolled up during the day, yet the day kept fine, and so enabled the many people to attend Church on Sunday last. When the Special Easter Services in All Saints' Church were taken by the Rev. F.R.E. Leacroft, from Taber, the Altar was very pretty with its Easter Lilies and White Carnations, the Lilies being given by the All Saints' Ladies, Aid and Mrs. Houch, while the white Carnations with their green foliage came from Mrs. F.J. Brophy at Vancouver. There was a good attendance in the morning and also at Sunday School in the afternoon, but at the Evening Service the Church was crowded and extra seats had to be brought in to accommodate the many people who came there, it was just splendid to see so many and the Service was heartily enjoyed by all.

Would that we could have a Church Service in our sweet little church every Sunday, we greatly need a regular Pastor here. Why cannot our Church members get together and each guarantee a certain sum towards the "Living" of a Pastor here?

The Rev. Leacroft, who is in very feeble health since his attack of Pneumonia some time ago, will leave this week for Vancouver to visit his relatives and try to restore his health again and he hopes to be back again on duty in about 6 weeks time, it is the sincere wish of all his friends and parishioners that his health may be fully restored to him and that we shall soon have him amongst us again.

The rumor in other papers that the Rev. Leacroft was going away for good is not correct, according to his own statement

Arrangement will probably be made for someone to come to Bow Island and take the usual services, the notice of which will be given later on in the Review

The Rev. Leacroft left on the Mid night train last Monday, to return to Taber

Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Anderson entertained the Rev. Leacroft, for the weekend

The All Saints' Ladies' Aid met last Thursday with Mrs. Hedgesdale, there was a good attendance after the usual business was over, the hostess served a very dainty tea, the next meeting will be held on Thursday May 4th, at Mrs. A.E. Anderson's.

Mrs. Selvage and Mrs. Webb, from Grassy Lake, spent the weekend at Bow Island, to attend the Easter Service at All Saints' Church, and were the guests of Mrs. B.T. Whitney on Sunday last

Quite a large crowd went out to Church on Sunday evening, how nice it would be to always have the Church full, a great help to the Pastor.

Mrs. Klontsche left on Saturday evening to spend Sunday at Medicine Hat before leaving for Coalgate, Alta. We are very sorry to lose Mrs. Klontsche.

Mr. and Mrs. Conquestgood were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hurlbut last week from Maleb.

Lovely Flowers For "Easter Services"

Sent by Mrs. F.J. Brophy of Vancouver

"Some Lovely Flowers" were sent to the "Review" by an old time and honored resident of Bow Island, Mrs. F.J. Brophy now living in Vancouver B.C.

These Lovely, Pure, White Flowers reached the "Review" last Saturday the "Review" was sent by Mrs. F.J. Brophy for decorating "All Saints' Church" on Sunday 28th. April for the Easter Services and they were loving placed with other beautiful flowers, which were Lilies contributed by the Ladies Aid and Mrs. Houch on the Altar where all of them did indeed beautify the Church and proclaim to the densely crowded little church their mute adoration of the "Infinite God" and the "Risen Saviour"

The Flowers, beautiful as they are, cannot equal the intensely beautiful spiritual thoughts of the giver, who thought of our lovely little Church, with thoughts of Love, ever remembering it was still a "Church of God" and a "House of Prayer" We feel such actions are rewarded by the "One" to Whom such beautiful and humble homage is made

An Easter Card was also sent along with these flowers, on which the following lines for Easter were written: May He who triumphed o'er the tomb. Cause flowers of happiness to bloom Within your heart today!

And may His love abide with you, A source of hope and strength so true Along life's upward way

As there will be no more Services in the Church for another month, the "Review" thought it would be fully enjoying the visit of Mrs. Brophy if they afterwards cheered the bedside of some sick sufferer, so the Review divided them and carried them to two homes of sickness in Bow Island, where we hope their soothing and beautiful influence may carry Comfort to the heart and Conviction to the brain of some of the Daily Miracles of God

Everybody that missed going to the United Church last week certainly missed a treat as the lantern services were very nice, the subject was on the Birth of Christ, His death and Resurrection. Rev. Mr. Johnston of Burdett helped the Rev. Mr. Hocken.

The Misses S. Davidson M. Duffy and F. Halloran returned to Medicine Hat on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Essie Allen moved out to their farm South of town, for the summer. Mickey is staying with his grandmother Mrs. Allen, Sr., in town so as to attend school

Mrs. Cullen's sister from Macleod and her two little boys are visiting here with Mrs. Cullen

Mr. and Mrs. Peever are on a visit to Brooks, Alta.

Glad to see Mrs. Hurst Sr. feeling so well after her severe illness

Foster Has A Rival

Mr. R. P. Rochan of Main Street, Vulcan, is a rival of Foster, in furloughing the weather

He told the Calgary Herald on 18th March 1922, "that there would be no drought this year in any part of Canada, and I repeat the statement that there will not be one dry spot in all Canada. Montana and North Dakota during the year 1922. We will have a bad three days' storm in Alberta starting about the first of May. Will probably penetrate through to Saskatchewan and north-west Montana. Three or four days' very fine weather will follow the storm. Will have an abundance of rain at least in the four western provinces and Montana and North Dakota during the months of May, June and July. All the rivers running east from the Rocky Mountains will overflow their banks during June and will cause some damage in Alberta"

Railway News in Brief

Calgary.—That the Canadian Pacific would be shipping coal out of the Cumberland district in the course of the next few weeks was the statement made by D. C. Coleman, vice-president on western line, Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Coleman spoke in quite an optimistic tone following present conditions and stated that freight traffic throughout the west showed an improvement compared with the corresponding period last year.

Sudbury.—By April 15th between six and seven hundred men will be given employment on the Sudbury district of the Lake Superior Division of the C. P. R. Of these some two hundred and fifty will be employed at the retooling plant at Sudbury, which will reopen on April 15th. The balance will be employed on track maintenance and with the bridge and building department.

On April 1st the C. P. R. started a large number of men at work retooling the line, while later on in the summer considerable rock ballasting will be done.

Winnipeg.—That there is plenty of elevator space on the Canadian Pacific tracks at the head of the lake to take care of all leading grain in the interior between now and the opening of navigation, which will be about April 25 was the statement made by Canadian Pacific Railway officials.

Approximately 285,000 bushels per day of coarse grain as well as wheat are being handled by the company. A percentage of wheat loaded does not reach the head of the lake, but is absorbed by flour mills at Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat and Calgary.

Annual Forage Crops

(Experimental Farms Note)

"Free range" is a relic of the early days in Western live stock raising, and with the high price of farm land, and the even higher taxes "wild land" pasture and hay land will soon be almost unknown. During the last three or four dry years the majority of wild land areas have produced barely enough hay or pasture to pay the taxes let alone help to pay for the land or pay returns on the investment. While this has been the case the numbers of horses, cattle and sheep that must be fed have been steadily increasing. For both reasons farmers are becoming interested in cultivated forage crops.

In the drier areas of the West it is doubtful if the method of forming the precipitation is sufficient to produce profitable permanent hay or pasture crops.

It is extremely difficult to secure a "catch" of clover or grasses and even if a stand of these cultivated grasses is secured one, or at most two crops will exhaust the moisture in the soil and the succeeding crops will be failures. During dry years these statements apply to all but the northern districts of the prairie provinces.

Under dry conditions Annual Forage Crops have given much better returns for both summer pasture and winter feed. One of the best Pasture Crops has been produced from sowing two bushels of Oats and one bushel of Winter Ryegrass. If seeded early the Oats will be six inches high, and ready to pasture, long before the Ryegrass are ready. The Oats will provide good spring and summer pasture and the Fall Ryegrass will come later and provide good late pasture until freeze up. This pasture crop is not injured by spring and fall frosts and if seeded on properly prepared land it will stand considerable drought, much more than will grass pastures. The fall ryegrass will provide the earliest pasture for the following spring and if not closely pastured in fall and spring will produce a crop which may be used for hay, silage, or grain.

Another good pasture mixture is Oats and Peas, but the Peas are expensive and difficult to secure and if the season is dry give very poor returns. The standard annual forage crop of the West, for both hay and green feed is Oats. For this purpose Banner Oats are the best variety, as the stems are fine and leafy if cut early for Outlay, and if cut later for green feed the straw is fine and also the grain if not a little late is well retained in the head. From 2 1/2 to 3 bushels per acre should be sown, depending mainly on the amount of moisture in the soil. Both Fall and Spring Ryegrass produce good hay if cut green, but the hay is coarser, more difficult to cure than Oat Hay and not so palatable.

During the last few years many more silos have been built and with the proven success and low costs of construction of both the pit and trench silos ensilage crops will be much more in demand. Almost any crop from Russian timothy to Corn may be converted into good ensilage. The essentials are that the crop is fairly well matured, but not ripe, and that it be cut fine and thoroughly tramped into the silo so as to prevent access of air. The best silo crops are Oats and Sunflowers. Corn is probably the best if it can be grown to the dough stage of the ears but in almost all parts of the central and northern districts of the Prairie Provinces that is rarely possible.

Experiments have been tried at the Experimental Station with many other annual forage crops. The most important have been Vetches, the Millets, and the much advertised Sudan grass. Vetches require much more moisture than we usually receive. The Millets and Sudan grass require a warm moist season. They make slow growth during our cool early summer weather, the young plants are very easily killed by June frosts and the first fall frosts stop all growth. Millets may be worthy of a trial but it is a waste of money to try Sudan grass.

The Noon Hour

Things we are asked

There is talk of changing the calendar. "If the year before last was 1920, does it mean that this year will be nineteen twenty two?"

Someone else wants to know, "If a proof reader is a typewriter?"

But the prize will go to the engineer whose humor is tinged with color who asks "If the wind blow out the waves row will there be a storm at sea?"

Could I use the same two colors to paint a picture of the storm?"

"Genevieve! bring the chloroform!"

Hard to Count

Earnest Inquirer (collecting statistics for work on temperance) "And how many glasses of beer do you drink in a day?"

"The Person." "Well, I can't say, gov'ner, some days I 'as about twenty or thirty, an' then again, another day, perhaps I might 'ave quite a lot."

Quit When Wrong

"The man who once must wisely said."

"Be sure you're right, then go ahead; Might well have added this, to wit:— Be sure you're wrong before you quit."

Of Those Telephone Numbers

Mother to little Willie as father takes down the telephone receiver:—"Run outside Willie, Father is going to try to get a number."

Real Chicken

The minister and his bride were preparing to eat a bite at a luncheonette. They were busily engaged with the bill of fare when the waitress, who was a much calculated and peroxidized young miss, came up to take the order. Suddenly the minister looked up from the bill of fare, smiled at the waitress, and said: "How is the chicken today?"

"Pretty good, kid," she retorted, "How are you?"

"Put and take" isn't always a gamble. It's sometimes a sure thing. When you put more effort into your business you'll take more profit out of it.

BOIL THE WATER

WINNIFRED NEWS

Mr. William Wilbur an old timer of Winnifred, just now of Raymond, Alta. is shaking hands all around, he is looking after his possessions here, we are glad to see Mr. Wilbur

The entertainment of the Fawn School was held at the Old Fellow's Hall with good attendance, and was enjoyed by all. The flag drill is worthy of mention, but the whole program was a decided success, and the untiring efforts of Mrs. Sager, the teacher, to her be the praise.

We think that Tony Craig is the first in the neighborhood to seed his grain, he was seeding wheat last Saturday.

Mr. H. Lotter is up around again and many friends are glad to see him on the grain.

The Flu has done and is still doing its work, Mr. Thorsen's family are just getting over the dreaded disease, and were glad to have them with us for a few days.

Soil was with the Hickmore family all taken at once, not even one left to do the chores, but we hear they are on the parker.

Eva Parker and Ruth Hodgson, High school students from the Hat, were visitors at home on Easter vacation. We were glad to have them with us for a few days.

As accident happened to little Ivy Hickmore a little girl of 4 years, she fell down the stairs and broke her collar bone, and has been a great sufferer.

Mrs. Scott of Winnifred is on the sick list this week, we feel sorry to report so many of our friends as being ill, but too true it is.

And even Paul Buehling is not exempt from Flu, it is reported that he is quite sick with it.

We are glad to see Robert Smith at one time in the Post Office, here with us again, come and stay Robert.

Judge, "I don't know what to do."

"Eh?"

"I want to tell the truth."

"Swore?"

"But every time I try to tell it some lawyer objects."

A Challenge for

Sir Arthur

CONAN DOYLE is challenged by Joseph F. R. m., who says he will pay him if he cannot prove that Doyle's theories are just plain bunkum. Rinn is a professional magician, of parts, and claims that he can duplicate by trickery any of the "phenomena" that Sir Arthur uses as the basis of his belief.

It is hardly likely that Spiritism will be killed by one or a million proofs that psychic phenomena can be produced fraudulently.

Spiritism is a matter of faith, largely, and theories reposing on faith have a way of outlasting theories resting on fact.

Rinn may win his $5000 but Spiritism will go on in the same old way.

The best way to test the value of Spiritism is not by shaking its authenticity but by finding out how much good or harm it does.

Here's one case of a Novak woman who poisoned herself and her baby the other day because she thought, she could help her husband more as a disembodied spirit.

Oujia board mania has become common. Mental disease seems to have followed the spiritism pretty closely.

Sensible people are quite willing to believe in life after death, and to believe also in communication with the dead—if they are shown.

But while admitting that there is life after death, it must be conceded that if curiously regarding the after life is rewarded with insanity or death, that curiously certainly does not pay.

And, after all, people were put on this earth to grow, multiply and serve each other without help from those who have passed on.

It is better to put bread between the lips of a hungry mother than to analyze the paralyzing stones in the Egyptian fields.

Any decent man would rather take the crook from the leg of a crippled child than talk with Great Napoleon Bonaparte over an ouija board.

These are a lot of hungry mothers and crippled children.

Until the mouths are filled and the crooked legs straightened, all dicker- ing with spirits and listening to optimistic spirit messages will be a sad and silly waste of time.

Many a wife boaster has a beautiful child's voice.

Many men who are immortal in marble, kicked dogs and underfed their children.

Real people would have appreciated them more if they had started their greatness and goodness in their own homes.

It would be a splendid idea if we would clean up our world before we get too enthusiastic about listening at the keyhole of the next one.

Selling 'em Down

Mrs. H. writes. Perhaps if Mrs. C. E.H. would try the following remedy for chilblains it would bring her relief, it had.

"Four years ago I suffered intensely with frost bitten feet. I tried many remedies without results. Finally I bathed them in hot salt water and while they were still moist I rubbed them with dry salt until the itching had ceased."

"From that day to this I have never had chilblains."

"I very thoroughly believe in the efficacy of salt."

Jack, aged 6 years, went to the hockey game with his uncle, and when he returned we asked him how he liked the game.

He said: "The one I liked the best was the fellow with the white sweater and no stick."

NATION BUILDING IN CANADA

Universities to Follow the Railroad in Binding East and West Together
For the Cause of National Unity

Hand in hand with the material growth of Canada, with the extension of her population, and the development of her natural resources, moves forward the growth of her intellectual and spiritual life. The race of men and women whose adventurous spirit and indomitable courage are making a nation, are not the kind that are content with the merely material things of life. Canada's pioneers of a little while ago were young men who saw visions, and old men who dreamed dreams, and their sons and daughters are no less gifted. Their broadening horizon now includes a new world of mental and spiritual effort in which they, in turn, must be pioneers. The realization of this fact has become a living force in the fine universities that are already joining a great work at Winnipeg, Edmonton, and Saskatoon and Vancouver.

In the making of the Canadian nation so far, avenues of transport and communication have worked towards completion of the structure the foundation stone of which was the Act of Dominion Federation. Canada's national unity is founded and fostered by the political and physical links that bind east and west, but it can be fully developed only when the avenues of Canadian thought move east and west as do those of trade. This is the thought that lies behind the recent donation by the C. P. R. of three annual scholarships of the value of $500 each to Toronto University for the purpose of inducing graduates of Western Colleges to complete their studies at that Great Canadian centre of learning.

The universities of Western Canada are growing fast. Their standard of instruction is high, and an ever growing number of their students desire to pursue post graduate studies beyond the stage now possible at their provincial institutions. Through these scholarships a constant stream of the brightest and most ambitious of western university students will be enabled to spend some time in Eastern Canada and thus become familiar with methods of life and thought there. As stated by Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in his letter to Sir Robert Falconer, President of Toronto University, announcing the granting of the three scholarships: "The movement is one that will obviously be of benefit, not only to the students, but also to the communities in which they will afterwards live."

CANADIAN ROCKIES RESORT KEEPS OPEN HOUSE ALL YEAR

CLIMBING WITH A SWISS GUIDE

CHATEAU LAKE LOUISE IN WINTER GEAR

Banff, the Beautiful, is rapidly becoming an all-the-year-round resort. The summer months during which its palatial hotels are open, will always be the leading season, with Winter Carnival weeks as second, but the balance of the year sees an ever-increasing number of travelers detouring at the picturesque log station that blocks the town's clean, wide Main street.

Autumn among the mountains that encircle Banff, is a season of pure joy. There is a tang in the air and the hoary giants wear their cloaks of mist more frequently, but the crisp coolness invites to more strenuous exercise in the open.

When the snow falls, a trip to Lake Louise on skis or snowshoes permits a tete-a-tete with the Pearl of the Rockies. Swiss guides are available if climbing is desired.

With the departure of the throngs of summer guests, the wild game which is protected in Rocky Mt. Park in which Banff is located, becomes more venturesome and it is a common sight to see deer grazing along Main street.

The Government swimming pools are open all winter and late visitors enjoy the novel experience of splashing in open-air, glass-enclosed pools of warm water from Nature's own hot kettle, while onlookers are wrapped in furs. There is always plenty of hotel accommodation at Banff and travelers will find a between-seasons stop at Banff a pleasant interlude on trans-continental journeys. This is particularly true during Winter Carnival days when merriment and healthful sport fill every waking hour.
